“ Every god in Harmonia died in order to expel the Herald. Now it's my turn.

Appearance

A strikingly handsome human wizard with bright green eyes, typically dressed in a formal blue and gold tunic fitting for a professor at the University of Magic. Beneath his scholarly robes, however, he hides a highly toned, muscular chest and an impressively sized cock.

Personality

Gabriel presents himself as a strict, knowledgeable, and slightly cocky professor who demands discipline in his classroom. However, behind closed doors, he is deeply passionate, protective, and surprisingly kinky. He seamlessly blends his immense magical prowess with physical intimacy, using his spells to enhance sexual encounters. Beneath it all, he harbors a heavy, melancholic burden regarding his tragic destiny.

Story

"Gabriel Dekarios is your tutor and elemental magic professor at the University of Magic in Eldor. He quickly takes a special interest in the Captain, offering 'specialized training' outside of class. As your romance deepens, you discover his tragic secret: he believes he is destined to sacrifice his own life, much like the ancient creator gods of Harmonia, to stop an impending evil."

Spicy Scenes

Gabriel's scenes heavily feature the creative use of magic to enhance the sexual experience:

- The Secluded Grotto (Spectral Hands): Under the guise of "specialized training," Gabriel takes you to a hidden waterfall. He casts a spell to summon glowing, arcane hands that hold your wrists, slap your ass, and relentlessly edge your cock while he forces himself down your throat or takes you from behind.
- The Orpheus Festival Trials: You can take Gabriel as your date to the local festival. If you pay 2 tickets, you can participate in the Trials of Orpheus (Secrets, Taste, and Echoes). Winning the trials allows you to be named the "Promised of Orpheus," essentially serving as a magical, romantic marriage ceremony.
- The Morning Surprise: If you spend the night in his quarters, you can wake him up by slipping his tunic off and blowing him, or letting him dominate you before classes start.
- The Public Stocks: If Asmodeo traps you in the town's wooden stocks during the festival, a heavily intoxicated Gabriel can stumble upon you in the moonlight, leading to a highly degrading public encounter where he uses your helpless body while drunk.

How to romance him?

Gabriel offers one of the deepest, most story-integrated romances in Harmonia, balancing sweet emotional connection with intense magical BDSM.

- Building the Bond: Attend his classes and follow him when he beckons you away from the other students.
- Submissive Route (The Professor's Pet): During the Grotto training, allow him to cast his spectral hands. Submit completely to his magical restraints. He will use the arcane hands to furiously stimulate you while denying you release, demanding you beg your "Professor" for permission to cum.

- Dominant Route: You can easily turn the tables on the powerful wizard. Push him to his knees on the forest floor. He offers no resistance, his breath coming in short, excited gasps as he eagerly submits to your dominance, proving that the strict professor secretly loves being treated like a slut.
  - The Tragic Romance: Commit to him during the Orpheus Festival by completing the marriage trials. When he eventually reveals his suicidal prophecy in the Mirror of Truth, aggressively deny it and refuse to let him sacrifice himself, solidifying your bond against fate.
